

The sides of the gully are wind packed, dense slabs that are sitting on weaker facets. It took a lot of force to initiate a fracture (ECTP, 32), but it propagated which means avalanches are possible. Photo: GNFAAC

Advisory Region
Northern Gallatin
Northern Gallatin, 2014-12-10