

A layer of near surface facets was propagating in stabiliy tests on an east facing slope in Beehive Basin. It's worth digging and looking for this layer before committing to steeper slopes. Photo GNFAC

Advisory Region Northern Madison Northern Madison, 2017-02-11